

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION POLICY FOR
PATRICIAN PRIMARY SCHOOL

INTRODUCTION:

This policy has been formulated by Patrician Primary School

THE AIM OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN A CATHOLIC SCHOOL

The aim of Religious Education is to help children mature in relation to their spiritual, moral and religious lives, through their encounter with, exploration and celebration of their Catholic faith¹.

THE VISION FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN A CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

In the Irish context the educational vision of the Church is a pastoral one. It acknowledges the complementary, connected, but different roles of the home, school and parish community in the faith education of children.

In this vision parents are the first and the primary teachers of their children in faith and the home is the first school of faith.

The parish is where children learn to worship, where they meet Jesus Christ in sacramental celebrations and where they experience and share in the mission of the Church.

Religious education in the Catholic primary school has two distinct but complementary dimensions; the educational dimension and the faith formation dimension.

- The educational dimension is centred and founded on the formal curriculum and focuses on the values and teachings of the Catholic Church. It teaches children the skills of spiritual, moral and religious literacy. The Religious Education outcomes at each level in the curriculum reflect this dimension.
- The faith formation dimension forms the children's characters in the virtues and values of Jesus, supports their faith development and helps them to experience what it means to be a member of the Church. The faith formation goals in the curriculum (pp 134-143) support and reflect this dimension.

An important part of this vision is our response to religious and cultural change in our society. Catholic schools are places where all are respected and valued. This includes the many different levels of faith that we will encounter in both our teachers and pupils and those pupils who are of other faiths and different stances for living.

AIM OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION POLICY

The purpose of this religious education policy is

- To ensure that we strive to understand and promote religious education in a Catholic primary school as never simply one subject among many, but the foundation of the entire educational process. ²
- To ensure that formal teaching in matters of belief, values and practice that equip children for a free and intelligent expression of personal faith within the family, Church and wider society is provided. (based on Share the Good News 39)
- To appreciate the richness of all religious traditions, especially those present in our school community, and to provide a framework to encounter these traditions.
- To provide appropriate religious education for the different levels of faith commitment that we encounter in our classrooms
- To lead to a greater degree of clarity in respect of aims, procedures and roles for RE in the school.
- To assist all members of staff in the teaching of Religion.
- To consider strategies that respond to the needs of children of different faiths and other stances for living in terms of religious education.

- Attention is given to integration of religious education across the primary school curriculum. St John Paul II gave expression to this when he stated that religious education will always seek to 'keep in touch with the pupil's knowledge and education; thus the gospel will impregnate the mentality of the student in the field of their learning and the harmonization of their culture will be achieved in the light of their faith⁵

- The celebration takes place in the local parish church preferably during the Lenten season

- Consideration is given to celebrating Holy Communion during a Sunday Mass or over a number of Sunday Masses
- Children sit with their parents
- Children are ministered to by the faith community on the day on which they receive Holy Communion for the first time. They are not called to minister. INCLUSION OF PUPILS OF DIFFERENT FAITHS AND OTHER STANCES FOR LIVING

Children of all faiths and different stances for living are welcome in our school. Our school is hospitable, open and inclusive. We continuously strive to best practice concerning the inclusion of pupils in our school. Our practice is founded on principles of good communication, clarity on rights and responsibilities, right relationships, openness to dialogue and compromise and flexibility. ⁶

- Our Admissions Policy and Mission Statement makes clear that we are a Catholic School under the patronage of the local Catholic bishop
- It is clear to parents enrolling their children that the Catholic ethos of our school permeates the whole school day and not just the formal religious education class

⁶ Forum on Patronage and Pluralism in the Primary Sector: Progress to Date and Future Directions, p19

- Our Admissions Policy makes clear that we welcome diversity and inclusion and that we believe that the presence of children from diverse backgrounds enhance and enrich our school community.

PRE-ENROLMENT MEETING

- A pre-enrolment meeting is held at which issues relating to ethos and formal religious education are discussed with prospective parents
- Parents are aware that there are prayers at assemblies, and at moments during the school day. It is made clear that for children of other faiths and different stances for living that these can be times for personal reflection.
- Parents are given an understanding of the nature of religious education in the Catholic Primary School. (An example of what this might look like is available in Catholic Primary Schools in a Changing Ireland, p25)
- Parents who have concerns about the content of the religious education programme are invited to meet with the principal.

OPTING OUT

- Subject to the terms of the admission policy children of any faith or of no faith are welcome to this school. Each child is welcome to attend and benefit from the Catholic religious education programme. However, if parents have difficulty with this, the Class Teacher / Principal shall meet with them to see if an accommodation can be reached. The school cannot, however, undertake to educate children of other faiths in their own faith.

Where parents agree and see value in it, children who are not Catholic are welcome to participate in the Religious Education Programme and prayer life of the school.

Suggested Arrangements for Children not participating in Religious Education

- Withdrawal from class during religious education (Note: This is not recommended as it creates a supervision issue within the school and also creates a sense of 'otherness' between faiths)
- Child remains in class during religious education but does independent work in other subject areas
- Child participates fully in religious education lessons but does not take part in sacraments
- Child participates fully in religious education and is allowed to offer their alternative beliefs in a respectful way
- During preparation for sacraments / school Masses etc. the school will need to take groups to the church. For supervision reasons, it is very helpful to the school for the class teacher to also bring children not participating.
- The details of individual arrangements are agreed upon between class teacher and parents.
